

Spor-Trac

Better Management through Technology

Spor-Trac Overview

Spor-Trac is a management software application that creates access to all of your Techmark control systems. It allows full access including review and the ability to change environmental settings from any device. Spor-Trac can access all of your mushroom systems from any location with an internet connection. At a meeting, in your office or standing in the growing room, access to your data is at your fingertips. Responsive design ensures a “best fit” user interface regardless of the browser or device you are using.

Multi-user access allows team members to collaborate while viewing the data from different locations. Spor-Trac provides customized access and programmable user levels. The historical record creates traceability and allows reviews of your data against outcomes to evaluate what worked.

Spor-Trac is a grower driven product. It is designed with the input of growers and will be updated with the continued support and collaboration of growers. Scheduled updates to the software will take place in the background allowing your staff to focus on the things that are important to your operation.
